Jeff Brambir Joins DynTek as Director of Training

Irvine, CA – July 1, 2008 – DynTek, Inc. (DYNK.PK), a leading provider of professional technology services, today announced Jeff Brambir has joined the company as the Director of Training.

As Director of Training, Mr. Brambir will focus on expanding DynTek’s training services, both geographically and technologically. The company currently operates a training center in Irvine, California with a strong focus on Citrix and VMware training. The company was awarded Citrix Authorized Learning Center of the Year in 2006.

“Jeff has an impressive background developing and rapidly expanding award-winning and highly profitable training programs in a channel environment,” said Ron Ben-Yishay, DynTek’s president and chief operating officer. “Our training business has always been strong, but we believe Jeff will be able to help us extend that success into new areas and become a bigger part of our core business.”

With 15 years of experience in technology training, Mr. Brambir has helped develop training programs for value-added resellers, distributors and manufacturers. Most recently, he served as the Manager of Education Services for Alternative Technologies, Inc., an Arrow Company. In this role, Brambir managed a $6 million product line with complete profit and loss responsibility. He increased Technical Education revenue and profitability by 400% between 2003 and 2007. In addition, Brambir developed and implemented a VMware Training program, growing revenue to over $2 million in less than one year.

“On the West Coast, DynTek has always maintained a top notch reputation in training and I have worked extensively with the team for the past several years in my role at Alternative Technologies,” said Brambir. “I look forward to my new role at DynTek where I believe I can have a significant impact on the growth and profitability of the organization. I plan to focus on further expanding their VMware training offering, as well as expanding our training services into other high growth areas.”
